STORY OF ANDERSON

1963

Herschel D. West
Assistant Superintendent
Hamilton County Schools

A Word of Gratitude

In gratitude for everything he has done for Anderson and for us, we the Senior Class of 1963, are proud to dedicate this ANDERSONIAN to Herschel D. West. During his eight years as superintendent he has shown a deep concern for the development of the young people in this area and has provided outstanding leadership in the advancement of all phases of the educational program of the Forest Hills School District.

We, however, will remember Mr. West, not as a remote and impersonal administrator, but as a friend with whom we could enjoy the various social events of the school. He cheered at our athletic victories and grieved with us at our defeats. He felt every tense, as well as amusing, moment of the dramatic productions. He attended every vocal or instrumental concert. His participation at school dances made him a friend to all. We were happy to know he cared enough about us to participate in the social, as well as in the business, affairs of the school.

We want to wish Mr. West success in his new office as Assistant Superintendent of Hamilton County Schools, and we are glad that he will be coming to visit us — often, we hope — in the future.

A Word of Welcome

We knew only that he . . .

"was born in 1923 in Wilson, Arkansas."

"spent six years in the United States Navy in World War II."

"graduated from St. Louis University in 1952 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in business administration."

"earned his Master's Degree from Xavier University in 1959."

"was Assistant Superintendent for two years in the West Clermont Schools and was Superintendent in Williamsburg for three years."

This is what he had done before he came to Anderson. We watched and wondered what he would do for us.

He came to Anderson with the belief that his most important job was to supervise projects already started and to see that they were completed as intended. He also had plans for development in two major academic areas — our guidance department and an adult education program. As the year progressed, we watched the fulfillment of his plans and learned to respect and admire him. We at Anderson welcome our new superintendent, Robert Goforth.

ANDERSON: OUR STORY, 1963

A story is usually one book, one plot, one set of circumstances leading to one turning-point and one inevitable ending. It is its own small world.

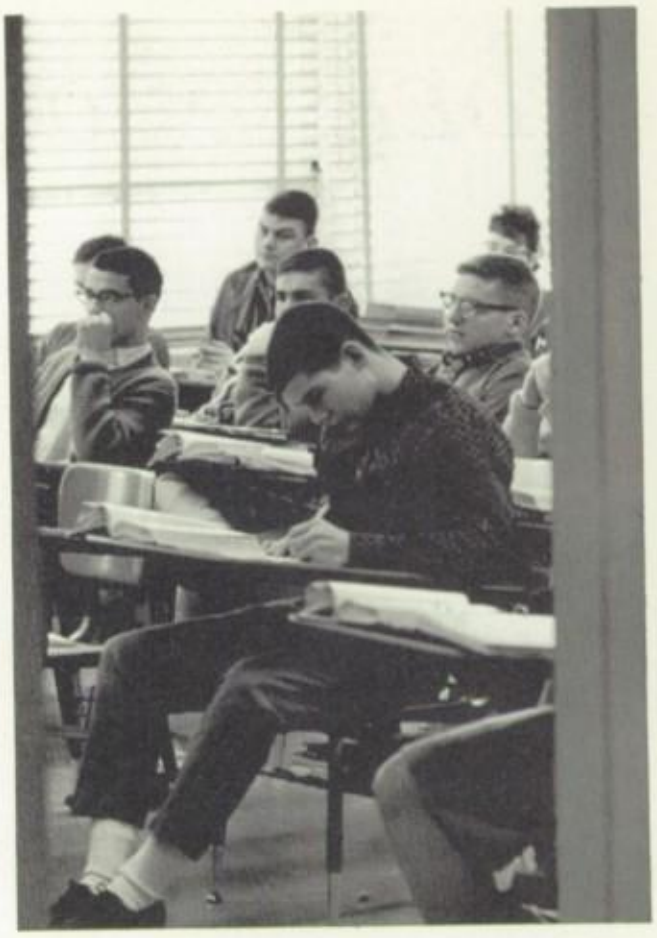
Our story is different. It is the story of many books. It is many worlds in one behind the high, silver lettering, "Anderson Senior High School." Here in one short year many lives grow, many minds meet.

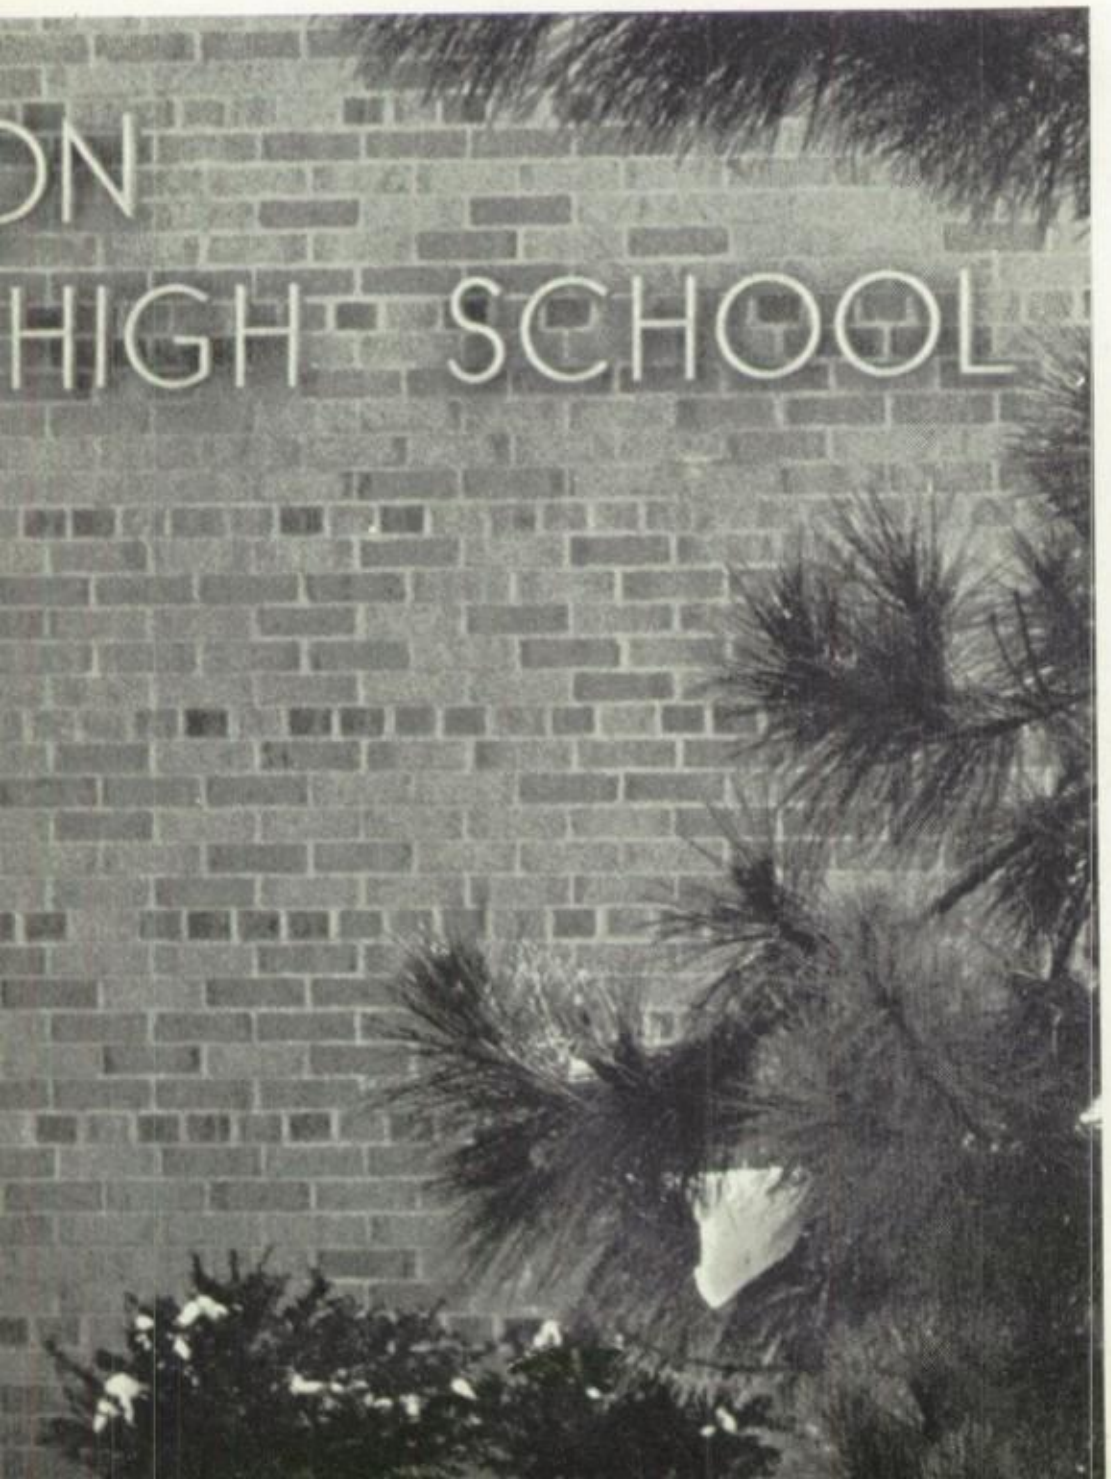
Ours is a world of books which we try to picture in this one book. It is a world of minds from many centuries speaking in our century. Through our teachers they open their thoughts and experiences to us.

Our story is of moods, expressions. Here one will see the pensive and the exuberant, hard work and concentration. The difficult is made interesting; the achievements become an inspiration.

Here is found study, intensity. The flash of school spirit and light flooding into our many-windowed main corridor is matched by the light in eyes of sudden understanding.

Our tools are books and buildings, teachers and tests, our wits and our wonderings. To our curiosity teachers bring their creativity in the hope that in this world, new worlds may be discovered.



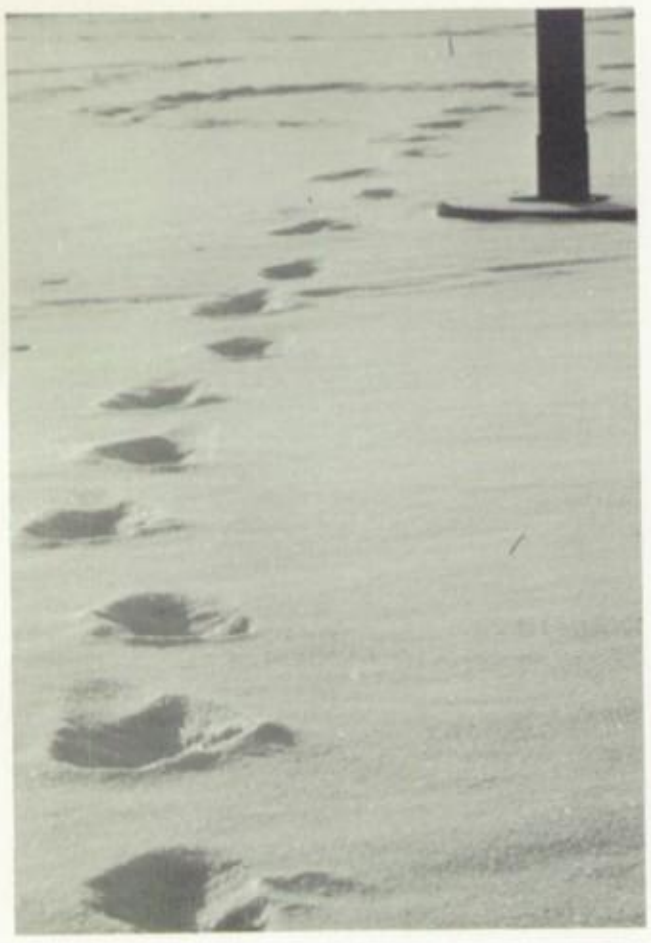


Even in an empty building with teachers and students gone, one may come suddenly upon a room of resting books, and the heart of our story comes alive.

COMING TO SCHOOL

In one of the most severe winters on record, the familiar entrance greets the student every morning.

We wake to the opening of a new chapter or a testing on an old one. At these moments we are seldom aware of the larger goals; only that school is open again, and we hope we have studied the right questions.



THROUGH THE SNOW

Snow gleams in the sun on our campus, and someone has taken a new direction beyond the shoveled walks.

For a moment we may wonder whether, using the landmarks of study and discipline, we may find our own way from the world of Anderson.

MOMENTS OF REFLECTION

Waiting at the stairs before class, students carry books almost nonchalantly. Some take a moment to scan the displays prominent in the corridor.

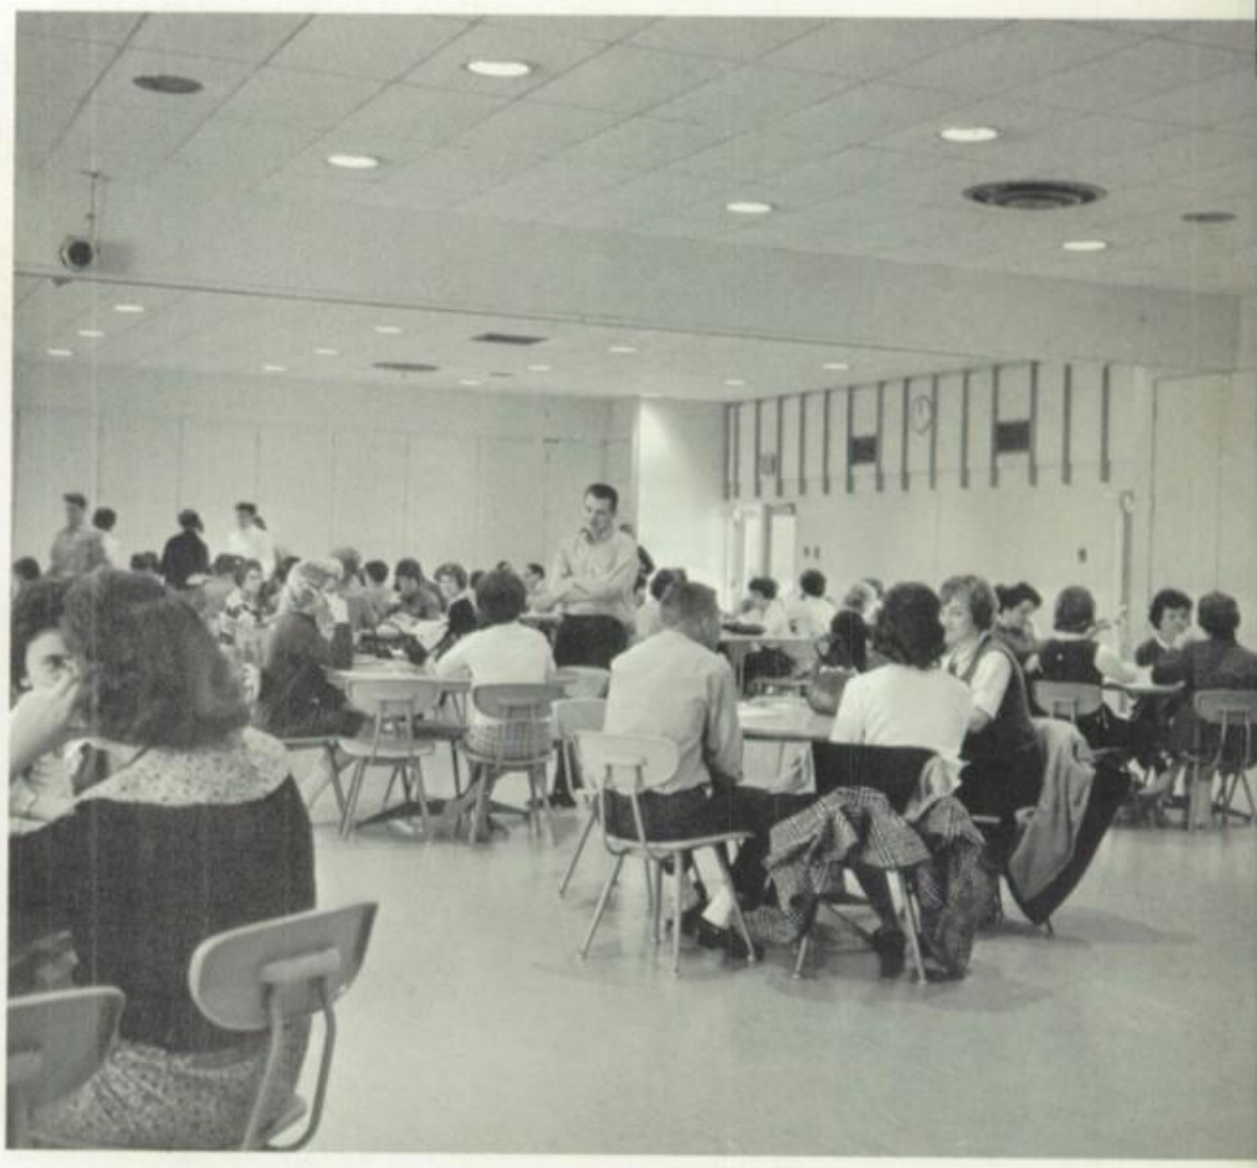
These are the moments, also, to reflect on yesterday's exams, tomorrow's assignments and the method for handling crutches after an early football practice.

The design of building and lighting often keeps our eyes moving upward.

Students are seen curiously watching the photographer through the classroom door. These boys and girls now go to the new Wilson School.

The concept of balance is not restricted to architecture. One might suspect that a baalnced curriculum might not always be a subject of student thought.

Library Conference Room



The cafeteria: conference room for special news, discussions on everything under the sun . . . and a place to eat lunch.

OUR STORY HAS MANY SETTINGS

The attractiveness of the main corridor, with its plants exposed to natural light, invites us to school.

Since we pass through every day, we are not always aware of the vitality and warmth of the setting.

Ona and Carol discuss the day's assignments.

Students find Mr. Titus and his office staff ready to answer their questions, and, perhaps, arrange for a schedule change.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION

Both the mobile display and the students' minds seem to move in the interplay of teacher, student, and subject.

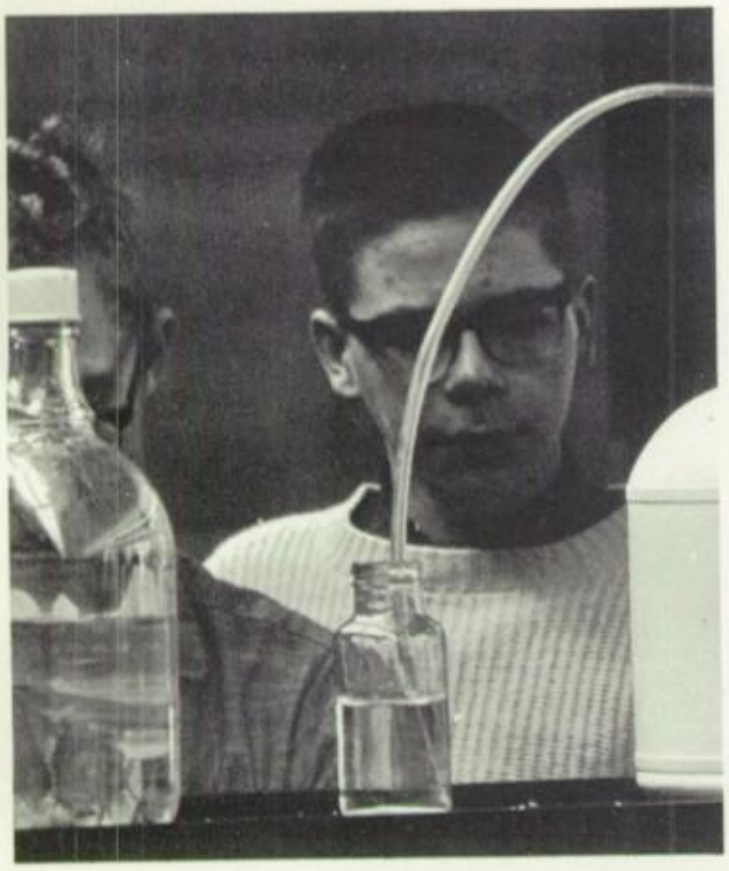
Our story in pictures catches some of the creativity by teachers and the concentration by students.

Whether it be classroom or corridor, lecture or discussion, the hard work of study goes on.

Geometry students, in deep thought, are caught behind the graphic illustration of their subject.

Friendly, informally, students share their views and discuss their reactions to the day's work.

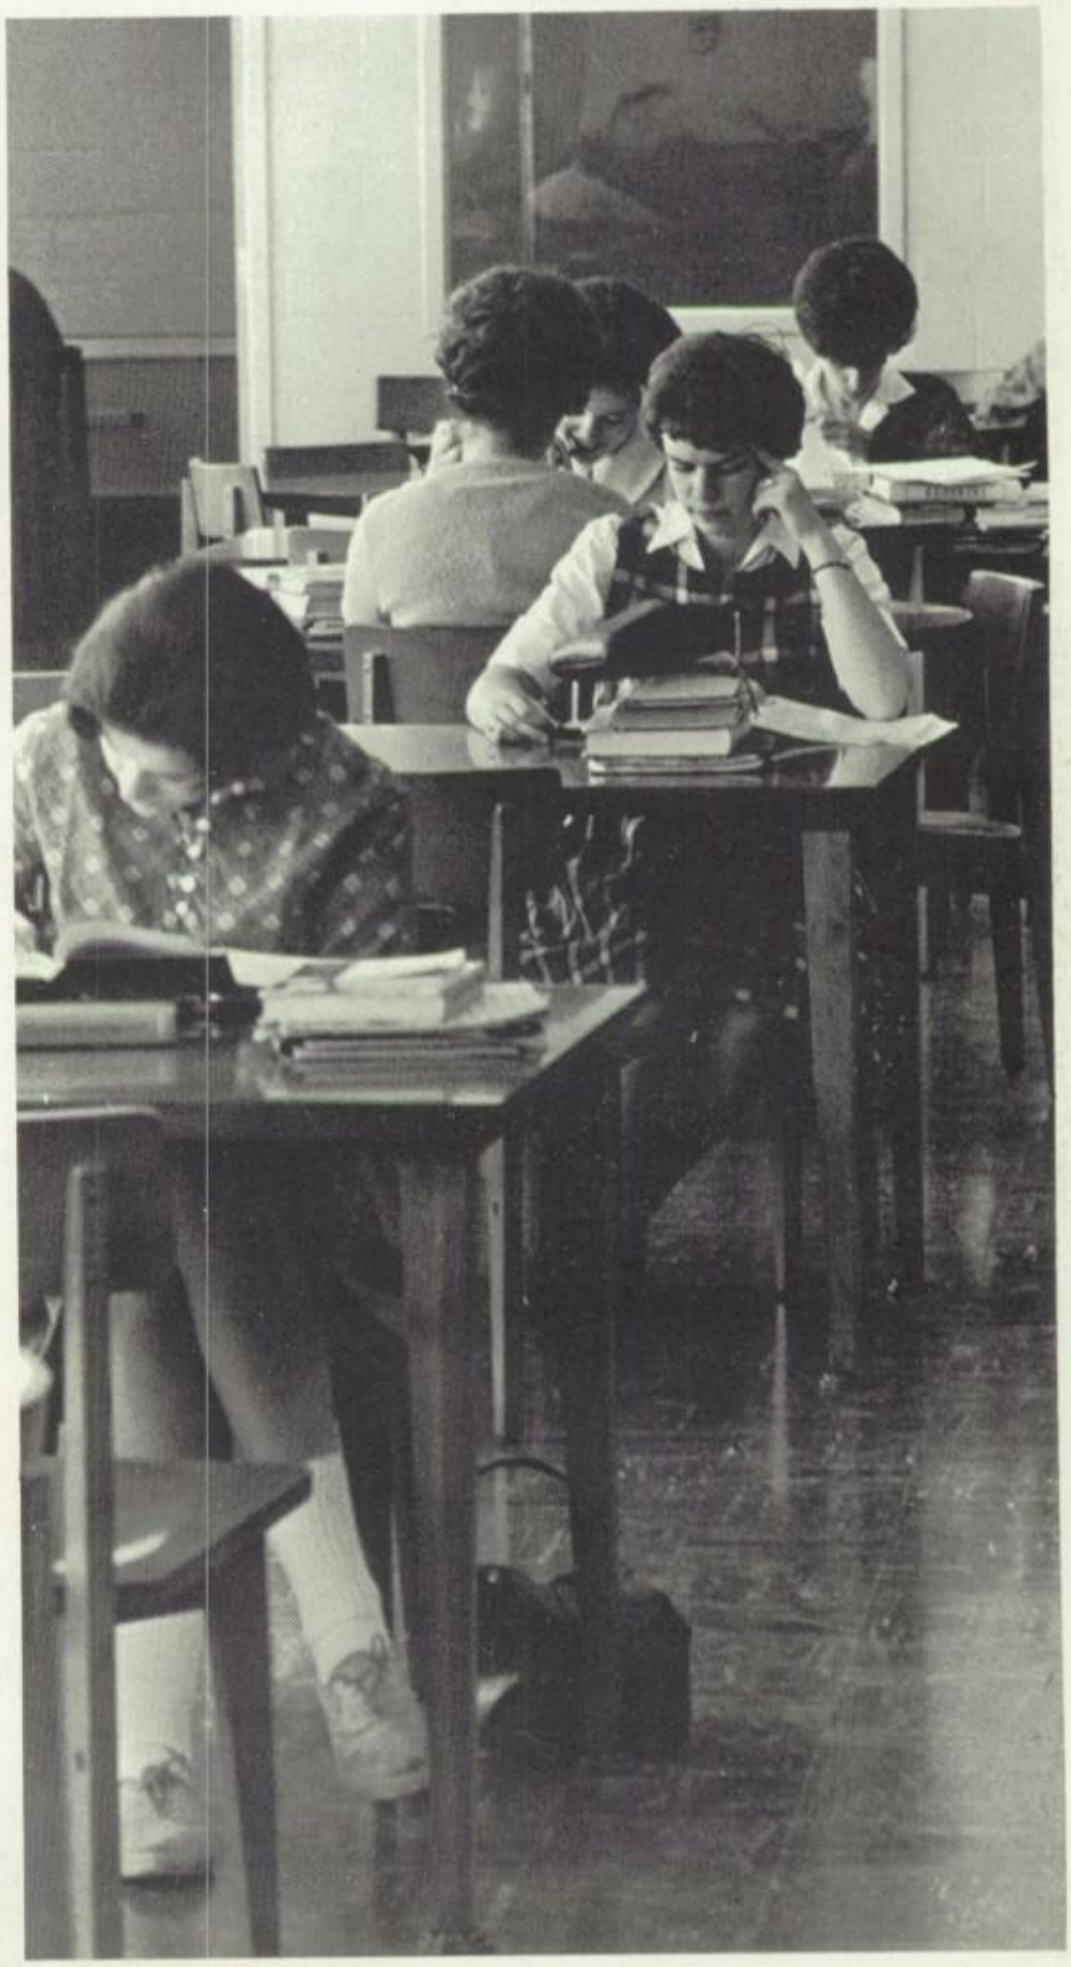
CONCENTRATION



Paul Schueneman makes alcohol from fermented molasses.

Science and math, language and literature, social studies and business education are some of the absorbing interests of every day.

Often, Andersonians are so caught up in the excitement of discovery, or in preparing for examinations, that they can resist the intrusion of a photographer or the noise of a group talking just down the hall.



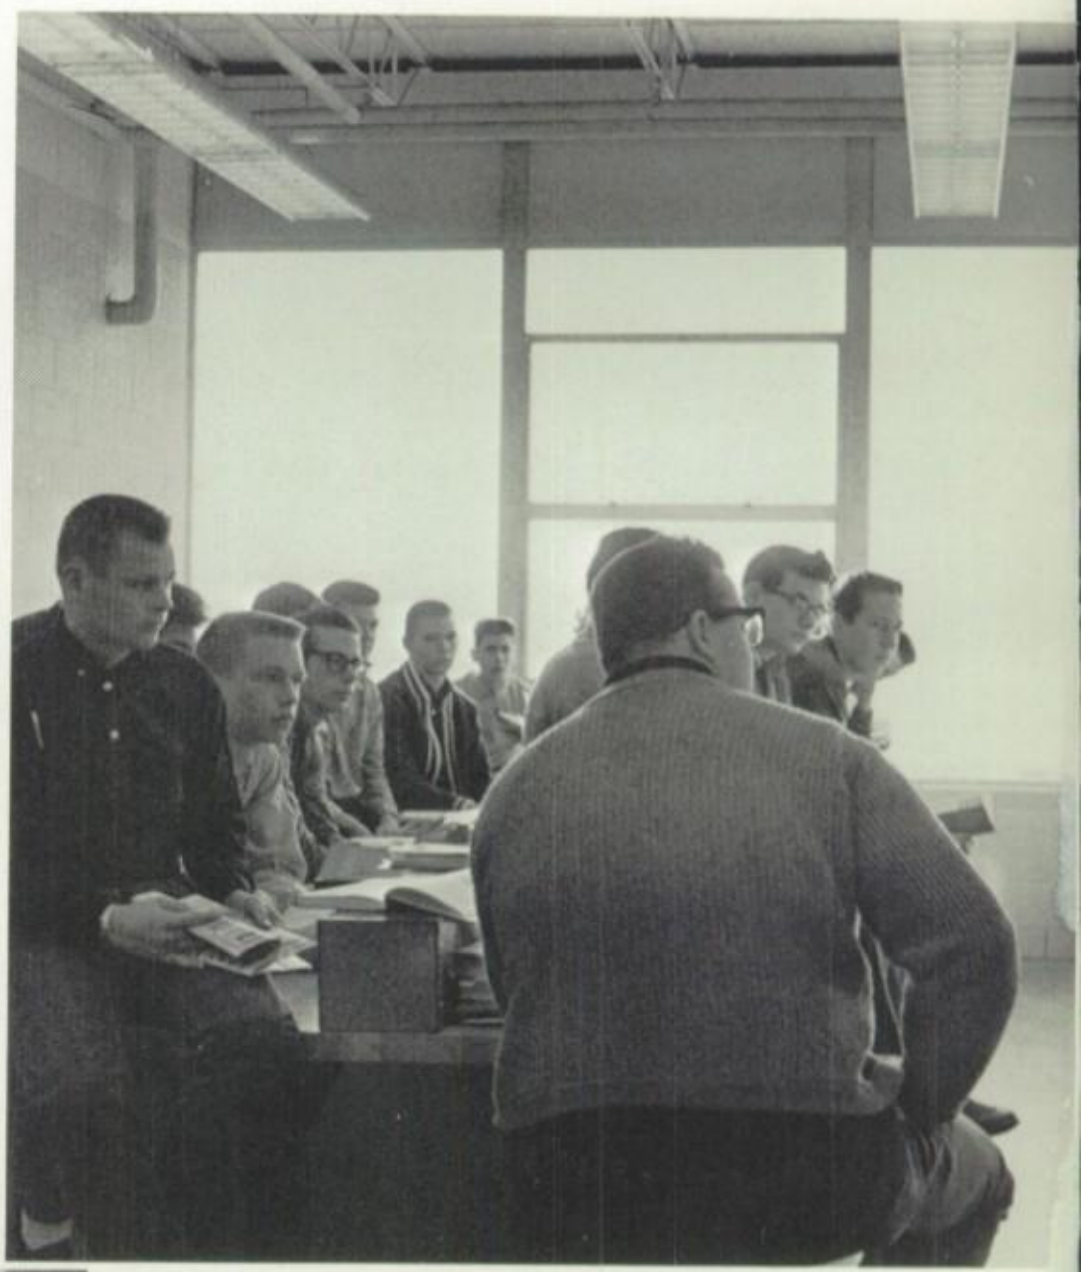
Approach of mid-term examinations is evidenced by crowded library.

IN CLASSES

We work, using the techniques of discussion, visual aids, textbooks and library resources . . . to seek better ways of finding facts and communicating ideas.

Teachers work constantly to find new ways, and to improve old ways, to present the subjects assigned to them.

One of the problems is the ever-changing and growing knowledge in many fields. Students are encouraged through assigned research subjects to explore these for themselves.



Mr. Norton presents basic principles of electricity.

AS INDIVIDUALS

Hard work at a good dictionary is often necessary to prepare one for the language in a given field of knowledge.

One must do this for himself, alone, in the quietness of the library. The work of "digging out" the facts is a very important part of remembering.

Preparing for research paper, Dave Sell takes notes from the dictionary.

A LONGER DAY

It is already long after school; yet some students remain.

Whether because of self-imposed extended study or activities, which make up the well-rounded program at Anderson, many are involved in work after the final bell.

These impressions typify the moods, the work, the inspiration, enthusiasm and intensity which are part of the story at Anderson.

Pam Schneider snatches moment for study before cheering practice.

Among the special projects of the year were the purchasing of furniture for the lobby, a project financed by Student Council, Y-Teens, GAA, FBLA, Pep Club, and Key Club, the initiating of plans for the composition and selection of an appropriate seal and motto, the beginning of correspondence with Sekondi College, Sekondi, Ghana, designed to broaden our knowledge of school life in Africa.

Since 1931, when the first volume was printed, the ANDERSONIAN has grown in many ways. The first thin book of sixty pages satisfactorily depicted life at a school in which few extra-curricular activities took place. A dedication to the seniors and a picture of the nine teachers of the high school were included, while a graduating class of eighteen students was featured.

The 1963 yearbook, volume XXXII, contains 184 pages, a dedication to a devoted man, and thirty-eight faculty pictures. This year a graduating class of 160 students is featured. The ANDERSONIAN has progressed through the years with our ever-growing school.

PARAMECIUM CAUDATUM
THE EFFECTS OF SHORT WAVE ULTRAVIOLET RADIATION AT A WAVELENGTH OF 2537 Å CAN BE DIVIDED INTO THREE CATEGORIES: STRUCTURAL, PHYSIOLOGICAL, AND BIOCHEMICAL. STRUCTURAL EFFECTS INCLUDE A DISTORTION OF THE PELLICLE, AN INCREASE IN THE SIZE OF ALL CELL VACUOLES, CESSATION OF CONTRACTION OF THE CONTRACTILE VACUOLES, AND PROTOPLASMIC BUBBLES AND BULGES IN THE PELLICLE, WHICH EVENTUALLY BURST CAUSING DEATH. AFTER LETHAL DOSES THERE IS FIRST A SHORT INCREASE IN METABOLISM AND THEN A GRADUAL DECREASE UNTIL THE DEATH OF THE CELL. BOTH STRUCTURAL AND PHYSIOLOGICAL CHANGES ARE THE RESULTS OF BIOCHEMICAL CHANGES SUCH AS THE DEFORMATION OF DNA AND RNA.

Y-Teens is a service club, affiliated with the YWCA, and dedicated to Christian goals and purposes. The Anderson chapter serves in many capacities: "candy striping" (working in hospitals), giving to the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas, and contributing to the Toys for Tots Program.

This year for the first time sophomores were permitted to join; thus the club became a medium for uniting the girls of the senior high school in a common fellowship.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society was founded by the National Association of Secondary School Principals in 1921 and has continued under its supervision to the present time. The Forest Hills chapter was established in 1957.

The Constitution, as written for our school, provides that the top 15% of seniors who meet the scholastic requirement of a B average, may be eligible for consideration, with 10% being elected the junior year and an additional 5% being elected the senior year.

With scholarship the basis for eligibility, a list of candidates is submitted to the entire faculty for rating on three additional characteristics, character, leadership, and service. On the basis of these ratings candidates are selected for membership by the faculty council.

Membership in the National Honor Society is indeed an honor.

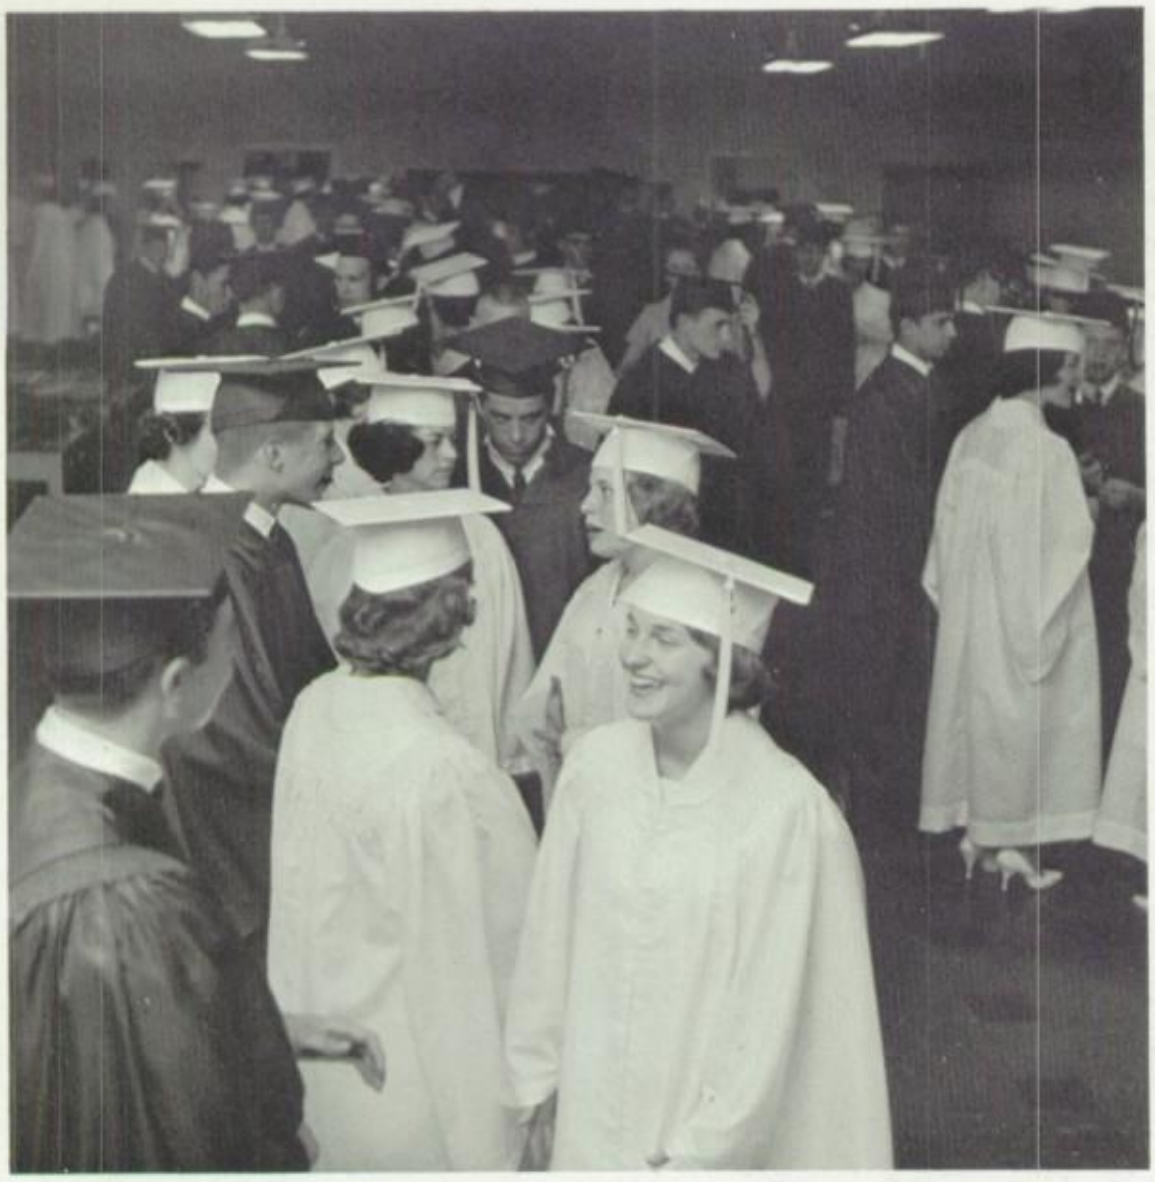
The Senior Class of 1963

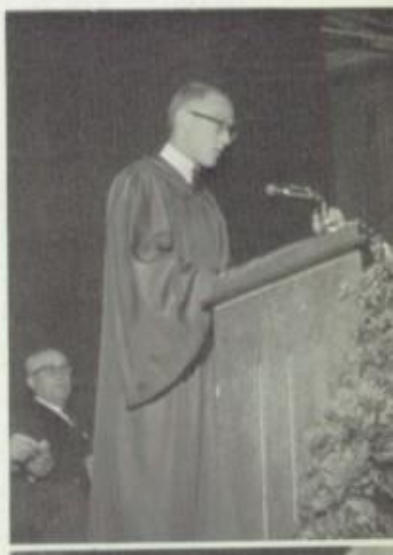
COMMENCEMENT

JUNE 6, 1963

Waiting the big moment.



Ready for final instructions.



Welcome is given by William Stearns.

Nancy Martin speaks about the past.

Charles Lauterbach, trumpet soloist, receives diploma from G. White and Prin. Titus.

David Tungate speaks about the future.

"Let There Be Peace On Earth" is sung by Senior Ensemble.

GREETINGS TO THE SENIORS

To the Class of 1963 goes the same challenge that has gone out to every class which has preceded it, namely, the challenge to make the world a better place in which to live.

In your lifetime it has been your privilege to witness significant advances in scientific endeavor. Great strides have been made in the areas of atomic energy and space. The peoples of the world are constantly being brought closer together geographically. Yet, in the areas of mutual understanding and respect they appear to be growing further apart.

Disciplined living is the whole base on which society is founded. Humans cannot exist together if people lie, if they cheat, if they steal, if they hurt, if they think only of themselves. This has always been true. It was true in the Stone Age, Roman Days, in the Renaissance, during our pioneer period, and, today, it is more true than ever.

We live closer to each other than people ever have before. We have nowhere to hide, nowhere to escape, no place where we can stay by ourselves. We have to work with people. We have to live with people. We are a thousand times more a society today, and hopefully we are going to continue to improve, but our age simply must have discipline.

People who are well-disciplined are usually happy and successful people. Avoid excesses in life. Live in the fear and admonition of the Lord and you will join others in making this world a better place in which to live.

The future of the world, and consequently the future of society depends upon the manifestation of love, honor and respect for your fellowmen. There still is no better rule than the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Good luck and best wishes in the years to come.

That's the new Princess phone. Think what a joy to use a phone that's scarcely bigger than your hand – that feels light as a feather – with a dial that glows softly and lights up brightly whenever you pick up the receiver. You'll enjoy calls more in your own room on your own Princess phone. And, the monthly charge is so low that you may be able to pay for a Princess extension yourself. For more information, call Your Telephone Company's business office, 396-9900.
